Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2017

Note 1 - Summary of significant accounting policies

Organization

Buckman, Buckman & Reid, Inc. was formed on September 7, 1988 under the provisions of the Business Corporation Law of New Jersey. The Company is registered with the SEC and Financial Industry Regulatory Authority (FINRA) as a broker-dealer pursuant to Section 15(b) of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, and is authorized to engage in business as a broker or dealer retailing corporate securities over the counter and as a mutual fund retailer. The Company, through its affiliate the Buckman Advisory Group, also provides investment advisory services. The Company does not hold customer funds or securities, and processes all transactions through independent clearing services. The Buckman Advisory Group, LLC was formed under the state laws of New Jersey and began activity during 2004 providing investment advisory services.

Basis of presentation

The financial statements have been prepared in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America ("GAAP").

Principles of consolidation

The consolidated financial statements include the accounts of Buckman, Buckman & Reid, Inc. and Buckman Advisory Group, LLC. The financial statements have been consolidated under the requirements of FASB ASC 810. All significant intercompany transactions and balances have been eliminated in the consolidated financial statements.

Use of estimates

The preparation of the consolidated financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Concentration of credit risk

The Company is engaged in various trading and brokerage activities in which counterparties primarily include broker-dealers, banks, and other financial institutions. In the event counterparties do not fulfill their obligations, the Company may be exposed to risk. The risk of default depends on the creditworthiness of the counterparty or issuer of the instrument. It is the Company's policy to review, as necessary, the credit standing of each counterparty. The Company maintains its cash balances with quality financial institutions. The balances are invested in interest and non-interest bearing accounts and are insured by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation up to $250,000 per financial institution.

Concentration of revenue risk

During 2017, one representative accounted for approximately half of the Company's revenues. The Company believes it has taken the appropriate steps to mitigate the risk of a decline of these revenues. These steps have included: (1) the planned reduction of discretionary costs; (2) the anticipation of substantially reduced legal and professional services costs; and (3) the recruitment of additional representatives.

Securities owned - equities

Marketable equity securities are carried at market value as of the last day of the month. The resulting difference between cost and market value is included in income.

Property and equipment

Property and equipment is carried at cost less accumulated depreciation. Depreciation is provided on a straight-line basis over the estimated useful lives of the respective assets which is approximately three to five years. Depreciation for leasehold improvements is calculated over the duration of the Company's lease agreement.

Regulatory requirements

The Company, as a registered broker and dealer in securities, is subject to the Securities and Exchange Commission Uniform Net Capital Rule (Rule 15c3-1). Under the provisions of the rule, the Company must maintain net capital, as defined, equal to $100,000. Under rule 15c3-1, the Company is prohibited from engaging in any securities transactions whenever its aggregate indebtedness exceeds 15 times its net capital. As of December 31, 2017, the Company had net capital (as defined by Rule 15c3-1) of $195,884, which was $95,884 greater than the aforementioned net capital requirement. The net capital requirement, as defined, was the greater of $100,000 or 6 2/3% of aggregate indebtedness of $1,481,704 for the year ended December 31, 2017.

BUCKMAN, BUCKMAN & REID, INC. AND AFFILIATE
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2017

Note 1 - Summary of significant accounting policies (cont'd)

Security transactions and revenue recognition

For purposes of transparency, matching and convenience, the Company has chosen to recognize all transactions and related expenses processed through its clearing broker on a settlement date basis, (the same method utilized by the clearing broker), with the exception of trading income, which is recognized on a trade-date basis. Generally Accepted Accounting Principles (GAAP) requires all revenues to be recorded on a trade-date basis. For the year ending December 31, 2017, the difference between the revenue recorded by the Company, and what would have been recorded if all revenue was recognized on a trade-date basis, was insignificant and not material. Moreover, for any revenues derived outside of the clearing broker (consulting and placement fees, investment trails, order-flow payments, etc.), such revenue was recognized only upon receipt.

Income taxes

Deferred income taxes are provided on temporary differences between the financial reporting basis and income tax basis of the Company's assets, liabilities and operating loss and tax credit carryforwards using the liability method. Deferred tax assets are reduced by a valuation allowance when, in the opinion of management, it is more likely than not that some portion or all of the deferred tax assets will not be realized. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are adjusted for the effects of changes in tax laws and rates on the date of enactment. A valuation allowance is provided if it is more likely than not that some or all of the deferred tax asset will not be realized.

Uncertain tax positions

Management has determined that the Company does not have any uncertain tax positions and associated unrecognized benefits that materially impact the financial statements or related disclosures. Since tax matters are subject to some degree of uncertainty, there can be no assurance that the Company's tax returns will not be challenged by the taxing authorities and that the Company or its shareholders will not be subject to additional tax, penalties and interest as a result of such challenge.

Subsequent events

FASB ASC 855 requires annual disclosure of the date through which subsequent events have been evaluated, as well as whether that date is the date the financial statements were issued or the date the financial statements were available to be issued. The Company evaluated subsequent events through the report date on February 28, 2018; there is no disclosure necessary.

BUCKMAN, BUCKMAN & REID, INC. AND AFFILIATE
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2017

Note 2 - Clearing agreement

The Company, under Rule 15c3-3(k)(2)(ii), is exempt from the reserve and possession or control requirements of Rule 15c3-3 of the Securities and Exchange Commission. The Company does not carry or clear customer accounts. Accordingly, all customer transactions are executed and cleared on behalf of the Company by its clearing broker on a fully disclosed basis. The Company's agreement with its clearing broker provides that as a clearing broker, that firm will make and keep such records of the transactions effected and cleared in the customer accounts as are customarily made and kept by a clearing broker pursuant to the requirements of Rules 17a-3 and 17a-4 of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Act"). It also performs all services customarily incident thereon, including the preparation and distribution of customer's confirmation and statements and maintenance of margin requirements under the Act and the rules of the Self-Regulatory Organizations of which the Company is a member.

The Company is required to maintain a $100,000 good-faith deposit with its clearing broker. The broker clearing agreement terminates in June, 2024. As of December 31, 2017, the Company had completed all required payments due on its subordinated loan with its clearing broker.

Note 3 - Fair value measurement

FASB ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value, and establishes a fair value hierarchy which prioritizes the inputs to valuation techniques. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. A fair value measurement assumes that the transaction to sell the asset or transfer the liability occurs in the principal market for the asset or liability or, in the absence of a principal market, the most advantageous market. Valuation techniques that are consistent with the market, income or cost approach, as specified by FASB ASC 820, are used to measure fair value. FASB ASC 820 establishes a three-level fair value hierarchy that prioritizes the inputs used to measure fair value. This hierarchy requires entities to maximize the use of observable inputs and minimize the use of unobservable inputs. The three levels of inputs used to measure fair value are as follows:

Level 1-Quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities.

Level 2-Observable inputs other than quoted prices included in level 1, such as quoted prices for similar assets and liabilities in active markets; quoted prices for identical or similar assets and liabilities in markets that are not active; or other inputs that are observable or can be corroborated by observable market data.

Level 3-Unobservable inputs that are supported by little or no market activity and that are significant to the fair value of the assets or liabilities. This includes certain pricing models, discounted cash flow methodologies and similar techniques that use significant unobservable inputs. There were no transfers among levels 1, 2 or 3 during the year.

The availability of valuation techniques and observable inputs can vary from security to security and is affected by a wide variety of factors including, the type of security, whether the security is new and not yet established in the marketplace, and other characteristics particular to the transaction. To the extent that valuation is based on models or inputs that are less observable or unobservable in the market, the determination of fair value requires more judgment. Those estimated values do not necessarily represent the amounts that may be ultimately realized due to the occurrence of future circumstances that cannot be reasonably determined. Because of the inherent uncertainty of valuation, those estimated values may be materially higher or lower than the values that would have been used had a ready market for the securities existed. Accordingly, the degree of judgment exercised by the Company in determining fair value is greatest for securities categorized in Level 3. In certain cases, the input used to measure fair value may fall into different levels of the fair value hierarchy. In such cases, for disclosure purposed, the level in the fair value hierarchy within which the fair value measurement in its entirety falls is determined based on the lowest level input that is significant to the fair value measurement.

Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of a market participant rather than an entity-specific measure. Therefore, even when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability at the measurement date. The Company uses prices and inputs that are current as of the measurement date, including periods of market dislocation. In periods of market dislocation, the observability of prices and inputs may be reduced for many investments.

The Company's investment in securities as reported in the statement of financial condition is valued at the last quoted price as of December 31, 2017. All other financial asset and liability amounts reported in the statement of financial condition are short term in nature and approximate fair value.
